

AIA Michigan Monday's Minutes

Cathy Mosley, Hon. Aff. AIAMI
Executive Director

September 16,
2013
Edition 9.3

Happy Monday!

Today I am in Lansing for a Michigan Sense of Place Council meeting with Tamara Burns, AIA. I am looking forward to learning more about our role on the Council and I will report back to you next Monday!

We are excited for the Design Retreat this Friday! If you have been thinking about attending, be sure to register before online registration closes at midnight on Wednesday (the 18th). You can view the flyer (below) and visit our website to register. And remember that the staff will be traveling to the camp on Friday, so the office will be closed.

I will be attending the AIA Detroit Design Awards this year and am looking forward to their new format in conjunction with the Detroit Design Festival. Thank you to AIA Detroit for inviting me, it will be a fun night!

Event information for the Annual Meeting on October 25th will be e-blasted out this week. Watch the website for updates!

Have a great week and we hope you stop by the Beaubien House for a visit or a tour if you are in Detroit!

Sincerely,

Cathy Mosley, Hon. Aff., AIAMI
AIA Michigan Executive Director

Time: 18 September, 2:00pm Eastern Time for 60 min.

Info: Please join your host, Joe Benesh, YAF Public Relations Director for the 4th in a 7 part series on Career Advancement: "What's Your Personal Design Manifesto?". This 60 minute discussion will act as our continuing discussion on one of many key topics for the Young Architects Forum in the next 5 years - how to move your career path forward, and what the future may hold for us and our profession. This tweet chat will serve to answer questions, share best practices, and provide shared knowledge for the benefit of all.

Please use Hashtag: #archcareers4 to follow along. For additional info, please contact Joe Benesh at joe@joebenesh.com or @AIAYAF.

Questions:

1. How do you see that the AIA Reposition will change the way you present yourself as an Architect or your firm to the general public?
2. Do you consider yourself a designer? Or something else?
3. What things are important to you as an Architect from a Design Standpoint?
4. Are there values you try to instill in your clients? What have you learned from this in terms of your development?
5. What do you think of the AIA's repositioning Manifesto?

Sustainability Strategies for People, Profit and Planet: September 27th and 28th!

Sustainability Strategies for People, Profit and Planet, is back and will be held September 27-28, 2013 at LTU. This year's conference is co-sponsored by the LTU Center for Sustainability and the Michigan Interfaith Power and Light. The conference has two keynote speakers: Terry Gips and Bill Spratley, lots of education opportunities and even family and childrens' activities. More information is available on the event flyer and at the conference website, www.sustain4p.ltu.edu.

AIA + 2030 Professional Series

The AIA+2030 Professional Series helps design professionals create buildings that meet the ambitious energy efficiency goals of the 2030 Challenge. Ten, 4-hour sessions offer strategies to reach 60% reduction in fossil fuel greenhouse gas emissions, giving design professionals the knowledge and leverage to create next-generation, super-efficient buildings and provide firms with the skills that will set them apart in the marketplace.

AIA Huron Valley has arranged for this year's AIA +2030 sessions to be held at Henry Ford Community College, Dearborn. Please view the full description and registration information here.

STRATEGIC DESIGN - The Power of Framework Thinking

Distinguished Alumnus William J. Johnson, FASLA
Professor Emeritus, University of Michigan

Bill Johnson has focused on issues of environmental design throughout his 50 year career as planner, designer, teacher and academic administrator. A landscape architect by training, his early interests focused on broad-scale land development/protection strategies. He pioneered in shaping cross-disciplinary ways-of-working in filling land development programs to sensitive environmental conditions. His practice has ranged across projects of regional and community planning, urban design, long-range campus development, natural resource and historic preservation. His contributions emphasize the balancing of social, cultural and environmental values in problem-solving initiatives. The scope of his personal involvement ranges from designer to development strategist to facilitator in environmental conflict-resolution issues.

Bill has blended graduate-level teaching and professional practice throughout his career since 1958. Co-founder of Johnson, Johnson & Roy, Ann Arbor, Michigan in 1963, Mr. Johnson along with his two partners directed the expansion of that firm into a multi-office international practice. A professor of landscape architecture at the University of Michigan from 1958 through 1989, Mr. Johnson also served as Dean of the University's School of Natural Resources from 1975 to 1983. A Fellow of the American Society of Landscape Architects, Mr. Johnson received the Society's Gold Medal in 1986. He was the 1992 President of the Landscape Architecture Foundation, an American Planning Association member and remains a Professor Emeritus of the University of Michigan.

Since the completion of his Berkeley partnership with Harvard classmate Peter Walker as Peter Walker, William Johnson Partners (1992-97), Mr. Johnson has since centered his personal practice on Bainbridge Island, Washington, where as William Johnson Studio he devoted much of his consulting time as mentor and critic for the architectural firm of NBBJ, an international design practice with offices throughout the U.S. Bill is now centered in Holland, Michigan. He continues consulting assignments throughout the country, focusing on community development initiatives with special attention to environmental preservation and restoration principles.

Custom Residential Architects Network (CRAN): Coming soon to Michigan!

On behalf of Dawn Zuber, AIA:

I am interested in starting a Custom Residential Architects Network (CRAN) committee in Southeast Michigan. CRAN is AIA's newest Knowledge Community, and we have over 1,200 members nationally. I have served on the Advisory Group at AIA National for the past 4 years, and have found a supportive community of architects who specialize in custom residential projects, including new homes and additions/remodeling. On a national level, we organize a symposium for residential practitioners each fall-the recent symposium in Santa Fe was a rousing success! In addition, we have been organizing a publication of exemplary single-family residential design called Houses for All Regions, a series of short videos about residential architecture called CRANtv, a compilation of resources for residential architects and our clients, a quarterly newsletter, and much more...

There are many residential architects in Southeast Michigan, and I believe that we could all benefit from organizing meetings and events specifically for our needs. Because I am a sole practitioner, and I am still involved with CRAN on the national level, I don't have time to be the champion for starting a CRAN committee on the local level, but I would be happy to support someone with the vision and drive to do the heavy lifting.

If you feel that AIA does nothing for residential architects, this is the committee for you!

For more information about CRAN, visit <http://network.aia.org/cran/Home/>. Be sure to sign up for the Knowledge Community so that you receive information about national CRAN events. If you have any questions, feel free to contact me at dzuber@studiozarch.com.
