AIA/AGC ECONOMISTS

FRIDAY | 10:00a – 11:00a

JENNIFER RISKUS

Jennifer Riskus is the Director of Market and Economic Research at The American Institute of Architects. In this role, she works closely with Kermit Baker, the AIA Chief Economist, and leads the Architecture Billings Index, a leading indicator of nonresidential construction spending, as well as the major biennial Compensation Survey and AIA Firm Survey report. She also manages a portfolio of internal and external research projects and provides business intelligence to AIA members to help them navigate current business conditions and prepare for the future.

MACRINA WILKINS

Macrina Wilkins works as senior research analyst for the Associated General Contractors of America (AGC), the leading trade association for the construction industry. She analyzes industry trends and compiles data products on the construction labor, spending and material markets. Ms. Wilkins graduated from Cornell University with a B.S. degree in human development and is currently pursuing a B.A. degree in economics at George Mason University. She is a member of the National Association for Business Economics and National Economists Club.
